

Have Sixty Students but Only 48 Seats

Lack of room at the Howard Kennedy school is becoming a more serious matter each day and with the opening of the new semester on Monday morning the problem of accommodating sixty pupils with only forty-eight available seats will have to be solved.

Two classes will have to be conducted at the same time in one of the rooms. It will likely be the fourth grade room, which will be in charge of two teachers.

Application has been made to the board of education by Principal Franc Eaton for more seating space. While this has been allowed by the board, the situation is not relieved, owing to the fact that there is no one in the city able to set up the new type of seats which have been purchased by the school authorities. A man from the factory is expected to arrive here soon to do the work.
