

Boy Cautioned, Doesn't Stop; Leg Is Broken

Wrestling in the basement of the school building after having been once cautioned for indulging in that pastime in the Howard Kennedy school Monday proved to be a costly and painful experience for Edward Dunn, 11-year-old son of Mrs. Edith Dunn, 3006 Lindsay avenue. Edward fell and broke his leg.

During the noon hour Edward, with several of his playmates, was wrestling in the play room. The boys were cautioned by the janitor for indulging in rough play in the building, whereupon they adjourned to the basement and continued their game. In the course of their play Edward fell with one other boy on top of him and his right leg was snapped just above the shoe top by the force of the fall.

The little fellow was carried ten blocks to his home by the janitor and one of the older boys. There he received medical attention.
