

Eighth Grade Honors Mothers

The mothers of the Howard Kennedy eighth grade students were honored at a Tea Tuesday afternoon, February 9, at Howard Kennedy School. Students of Msr. Laughlin's eight grade met the mothers at the door, presented them with attractive coursa- ges, and conducted them to seats in the library where they were served lovely refreshments. The tea table was attractively set with crystal and silver and decorated with yellow candles and a centerpiece of jonquils. The program, which was the first affair connected with the spring graduation, featured preparation for high school. Miss Loveday Guidon, first year student from Technical High, spoke briefly on things she wished she had known before she went to high school. Duane Eckberg, a Tech senior, recommended that students take part in one or more extracurricular activities.

Mr. Carl Palmquist, Principal at Tech High, spoke on the courses available in the high school and the advisability of each student doing his best. Mr. Don Warner, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, explained the need for regular health examinations for eighth grade children. Miss Udoxie Goodwin, the school nurse, explained the procedures of health examination for eighth graders.

Mrs. Zell R. Sahn, school Principal, conducted a question and answer period on graduation customs and dress. The meetings closed with a conference between eighth grade parents and Mrs. Laughlin.
