CUASA HOLDS TRICK OR TREAT PARTY FOR CENTRAL AND HOWARD KENNEDY FOURTH GRADERS

CUASAer Lorraine Doyle (left) . . . with trick-or-treaters from Kennedy

For 40 Central and Howard Kennedy fourth graders it was tricks and treats Halloween afternoon at the Linn Black Culture House on Creighton University campus.

They were guests at a party given by the Creighton University Afro-American Student Association (CUASA).

The little goblins enjoyed the traditional Halloween custom of apple bobbing, pie-n-the-face competition, saw a movie and got a full bag of treats.

The students came from a Central class where Creighton student Verna Lewis does her practice teaching and a Howard Kennedy class taught by recent Creighton grad Denise King.

The affair was sponsored by CUASA's community involvement committee chaired by Pamela Moore.

James Riddick is CUASA president.
