

‘Omaha Lost a Giant’

Omaha.

My friendship with Welcome T. Bryant began in 1953 when he was teaching at Howard Kennedy School. Many was the occasion, after his classes, that he would visit my business and we would get into discussions about purposes and aims in life.

He had a keen mind and a spirit driven to get things accomplished.

I once asked how he got his name. He replied that there had been no male children born on one side of his family for about 60 years, until he came along. He was so welcome, the decision was made to call him just that.

Omaha has lost a giant.

Art Grossman.

CITATION (APA STYLE)

(1982, October 6). Omaha World-Herald, p. 30. Available from NewsBank: America's News – Historical and Current: <https://infoweb.newsbank.com/apps/news/document-view?p=AMNEWS&docref=image/v2:1106B5BBD4B623A8@EANX-NB-138C5DCC83F3E921@2445249-13822383194F0E2C@29-13822383194F0E2C@>.